The lack of good roads in Georgia costing the state and its motorists or more than a bond issue to provide rst-class highways would cost, W. Anderson, editor and publisher of the Macon Telegraph, told members the Atlanta Lious Club Tuesday at the Henry neir luncheon meeting at the Henry Grady hotel. "The proposed bond issue for a general highway system for Georgia in an economic necessity," the editor, long a good roads protagonist, told members of the club, legislators and a number of leading Atlantans who had been invited to hear his address. "It is the one great thing that Georgia needs to keep abreast with her sister. states in progress and development."

Mr. Anderson said he favored the Mr. Anderson said he favored the proposal, backed by the Association of County Commissioners, which would govide an issue of $75,000,000 worth of bonds which would be used together with income now being derived under the "pay as you go" plan.

Failure of Plan.

Failure of Plan.

"The pay'as you go plan is all right as far as it goes," Mr. Anderson said.
"But it does not go far enough. This is proven by the fact that we have given the plan a thorough trial and it is resulting is the state having a checkerboard system of highways which is doing more harm than good."

If a bond issue is submitted to the voters of Georgia it is almost certain of passage, Mr. Anderson said,
"Out of 161 counties in the state 97 have issued bonds for road purposes already," he declared, "This is indicative that the voters want good roads and are in favor of issuing bonds to pay for them. The only reason the great majority of the remaining 64 counties have not issued bonds is that they are not able to, If we want to lift Georgia out of the mud it will have to be through a state-wide program for it is too big a load for the counties to bear."

Under the bond issue plan favored by Mr. Anderson, $25,000,000 of the issue would be used to pay off outissue would be used to pay off outmoney in a mud-hole and that is what he content than two cents a mile more to operate a mwoor car over an unpared highway than one which had been paved and ascerted that what he called the "mud tax" was greater than any tax which migh, be levied to pay for bonds.

"If we could only drive home to the good roads will not cost them a dollar, which is an honethe slightest trouble in carrying a bond issue," he said. "These bonds will pay for themselves time and again in the savings to our cars and in cutting down our traveling expenses offi every hand."

Mr. Anderson said he talked directly with Howard Coffin, developer of the coastal region and in their discussion of Georgia subjects he asked Mr. Coffin what he considered Georgia needed more than all else.

"Good roads," Mr. Anderson quoted Mr. Coffin as replying. "If this state guts the roads it needs a great general development will follow. Many new irdustrial concerns will come to Georgia for many would like to come here now but no one wants to invest.

"In their honest efforts to solve these problems the general assembly is entitled to the support and the confidence of the people and the governor should be sustained in every way possible in trying to bring financial order. Captious criticism and fault finding are no solutions of the problems. Drastic unreasonable cuts in appropriations may produce a paralysis of vital governmental service and increased exorbitant taxation may destroy the business fabric. The present general assembly is compelled to find money to cover the present deficit and with its hands tied in many ways, must reach the best conclusions possible under present conditions. We should sympathize and help them as far as possible for the next two years. Some measures of taxation will possible to conclusions which the research which should con-

"The gross income of the United States is estimated at 110 billion dollars and taxes form a 11 per cent burden. Our estimated gross income in Georgia is 900 million and our taxes form a 9 per cent burden. At once you can see, if 9 cents out of every dollar of our gross income is absorbed by taxation; the vital relation between taxation and economic progress becomes apparent. New what can Georgia afford to pay in "The present general assembly is in my judgment going to do the very what can Georgia afford to pay in the shape of state taxes in addition to local and federal and how should this tax be collected. How should it be paid and who should pay it? For many years real estate has practically paid our county and city taxes and a considerable proportion of state taxes but has not the limit been reached here? Who should pay? First, those who secure the benefits of government and in some respects we have followed that principle in our auto tax and gasoline tax; next, those who are most able to pay and finally a service tax such as a poll tax in which all are required to support the government.

in my judgment going to do the very best possible under trying and exacting conditions but we must realize that in order to avoid a recurrence of our troubles that for the next several years our citizens ought to cooperate with the general assemblies and the executive in trying to reach a permanent settlement of the state's tax system and establish our fiscal condition so that we can avoid a constant discussion of these problems and have our tax system on such a basis so as not to be projected into political campaigns every year or two.

"For a just, fair settlement of our troubles, for an enlightened active state administration, we ought to know two things. First, what would a sound, sane, service-able, fair system of taxation produce in Georgia? If we had such a system, how much income for the state?

such a state administration cost; sectondly, what can Georgia pay in total taxes without unduly burdening her people. I know it is popular to say we can do this or that but I want to give you a few facts about taxes. The total visible wealth of the United States is estimated to be three hundred billion dollars with a tax burden of twelve billion dollars or a 4 per cent charge on the visible wealth of the country. This includes federal, state and local taxation. The total tax burden of Georgia, federal, state and local taxation. The total tax burden of Georgia, federal, state and local taxation. The total tax burden of Georgia, federal, state and local taxation that burden of Georgia so that a modern progressive state and local is approximately eighty million dollars. Our visible wealth is estimated at three billion dollars or our taxes are 2 3-4 per cent on our visible wealth.

have a responsible state government as at present organized. We have been throwing together an organization since 1877 until now it is unwieldly, ince 1877 until now it is unweatly, top-heavy and expensive.

"Again and again I have urged a government of 12 to 15 responsible department heads, with a department of finance and control which should have charge of the books of the state, nave charge of the books of the state, controlling the expenditures through a budget director, controlling purchases through a general purchasing agent and that all warrants go to the treasury. I have urged again and again a budget law with teeth in it. Again the need of proper enforcement of tax laws is urged and efficient colors. of tax laws is urged and efficient col-lection of taxes. It is manifestly the duty of the state to collect its revenue with the same close attention as a business organization and our present method is unfair to those who pay when we do not make the proper ef-fort to collect delinquent taxes from the tax dodgers and evaders. Again and again economy has been shown by proper re-organization and co-ordination and a saving of more than three-quarters of a million dolthan three-quarters of a million dol-lars to the tax-payer, but this is not the vital reason. I want the state gov-ernment restored to the people for them to understand and not be ob-scured by various departments collect-ing fees and disbursing them, to form general puzzle in finances to our

"Now, fellow-Georgians, I have talked to you frankly. It is possible I have stressed the material side too much, but our final salvation as a state depends upon material prosperity. We must make money to pay taxes and we must not take one dime from industry that will not render greater service in governmental activity. I have urged a tax survey in order to know what we can expect from year to year under an equitably levied tax measure and how with increasing prosperity taxes can be low-'Now, fellow-Georgians, I have talkcreasing prosperity taxes can be low-ered to all. Much splendid work has been done by tax commissions, but we need a larger work. The commission on consolidation and simplification has done splendid work, and has indicated substantial savings. What we need to know is how much board we dicated substantial savings. What we need to know is how much should our state government cost supported liberally, fairly and equitably in its essential activities. How much should we give our common schools? How much our university system; what would proper health activities cost? "I do not know nor do I think that some of those who clamor for increased appropriations have well defined plans of enlargement and increased activities. So today I urge you gentlemen for the next four years to come to believe that when we know our taxing resources and ascertain the ability of the state to pay taxes, that we should levy taxes to that extent and that local taxation should be included in state's program of faxation so as to help us make the burden tion so as to help us make the burden as light as possible and avoid excessive local levies.

"But we should levy so as to take care of state's actual needs and to provide a constantly increasing income to care for increased population."

The south has had few as able constitutional interpreters in the congress of the United States than Senator George, of Mississippi, and Senator Pugh, of Alabama. They are both on record as combating powerfully and successfully the theory that a legislator should favor the purpose of an amendment before voting to let the people pass upon it. Those who entertain that idea should read the reports and speeches of those eminent authorities, made in the congress more tles, made in the congress more than a generation ago. It is often queer how some persons who do not choose to inform themselves with correct knowledge will make wide mistakes in forming their opinions and judgments. They allow what they want or do not want to dictate their thoughts and utterances.

The H-47, which sumped the submarine H-32 during exercises off Portland in December, 1926, is one of the smallest class of British sub-marines. It was of American design tributed to the heat in other cities than ours somewhat reminds me of the terrible way in which the very recent than the home town; or if one visited any other place, then the old home town seemed to be most alarmingly stricken. It is like being bitten by town seemed to be most alarmingly four torpedo tubes. It had a surface stricken. It is like being bitten by a rattlesnake; if you fail to die 101-5 knots under water.

Some people harbor a queer fancy that one should not drink much water, especially cold water, in very hot weather, lest it cause excessive sweating. This is all wrong. The more cool or cold water one drinks in hot weather the more comfortable. The admiralty tonight revised its list of casualties in the submarine collision to 24, as follows: Lieutenant Bickmore, two sub-of-ficers, two telegraphists and 16 arti-ficers, seamen and stokers who sank with the H-47 were officially listed in hot weather the more comfortable will be whether the amount of sensible sweat is greater or less than as "missing." Matter Carried in Illuminated Envelopes Is Held To Be Scurrilous.

New York, July 9.—(P)—The in-renational labor defense today was suited an injunction restraining Post-aster General Walter F. Brown and ohn J. Kiely, postmaster of New lork, from interfering with transmis-ion through the mails matter con-ained in "illuminated" envelopes. Federal Judge Thomas D. Thacher, dismissing the petition, held that a matter printed on the envelopes ntaining propaganda defending the istonia, N. C., strike leaders was aracterized as scurrilous and dematory and "may even be regarded threatening"

as threatening."

The international labor defense is raising funds to defend 14 strikers arrested at Gastonia in connection with the death of a police official during a clash between officers, strike breakers and strikers.

On each envelope the organization sent out appealing for funds was printed: "Smash the murder frame-up against Gastonia strikers." These words were what the government objected to, Judge Thacher explained, adding that "there is no question of words were what the government ob-jected to, Judge Thacher explained, adding that "there is no question of the merits of the labor controversy in question before the court," and "neither is there any question of the right of men or women to express, their opinion."

The state department was today awaiting a report from the treasury on the Kao incident, and no action will be taken until a report is received. At the request of Chinese Minister Wu a copy will be turned over to him for transmission to his government.

Several Courses Open.

Several courses are open to the de-partment in the event it is found the incident demands action. The exe-quatur, which is the formal permission granted to consuls to transact af fairs of their country in foreign na-tions, could be canceled by the de-partment, thus eliminating Ying Kao from the list of Chinese consular of-ficials in the United States. While ficials in the United States. While it was emphasized that Ying Kao is not so far directly involved in the case, the importation of the opium resulted from the position which his wife held by virtue of her husband's vice-consularship. It was said at the department that intimations Ying Kao might be deported were pure speculation. On the other hand the Chinese government might recall the Chinese government might recall the vice-consul and thus eliminate any further action by the department, if any was found necessary, so far as Ying Kao is concerned.

Since neither the vice-consul nor his wife has diplomatic immunity, it was generally conceded that any decision generally conceded that any decision to bring prosecution proceedings against her must necessarily rest with the department of justice and in which the state department would not inject

The code involves radical changes, in usual present day conceptions of the relationship between employe and employer. Its adoption will mark one of the young revolutionary government's greatest strides along the path designated for it by its mentors, Alvaro Obregon, Plutareo Calles, and President Portes Gil.

Many innovations are contemplated in the measure, probably the most drastic of which is a system of obligatory labor.

The proposals include:

Establishment of an elaborate system of labor courts with the power to advise employers as to the conduct of the business.

Recognition of the right to strike, without violence. Arbitration, at first voluntary, then compulsory, would be provided for.

Establishment of an 8-hour day, six-day week, with four obligatory holidays and obligatory annual vacation periods with pay.

SHALL THEY ENTER 6 -OR GO AROUND

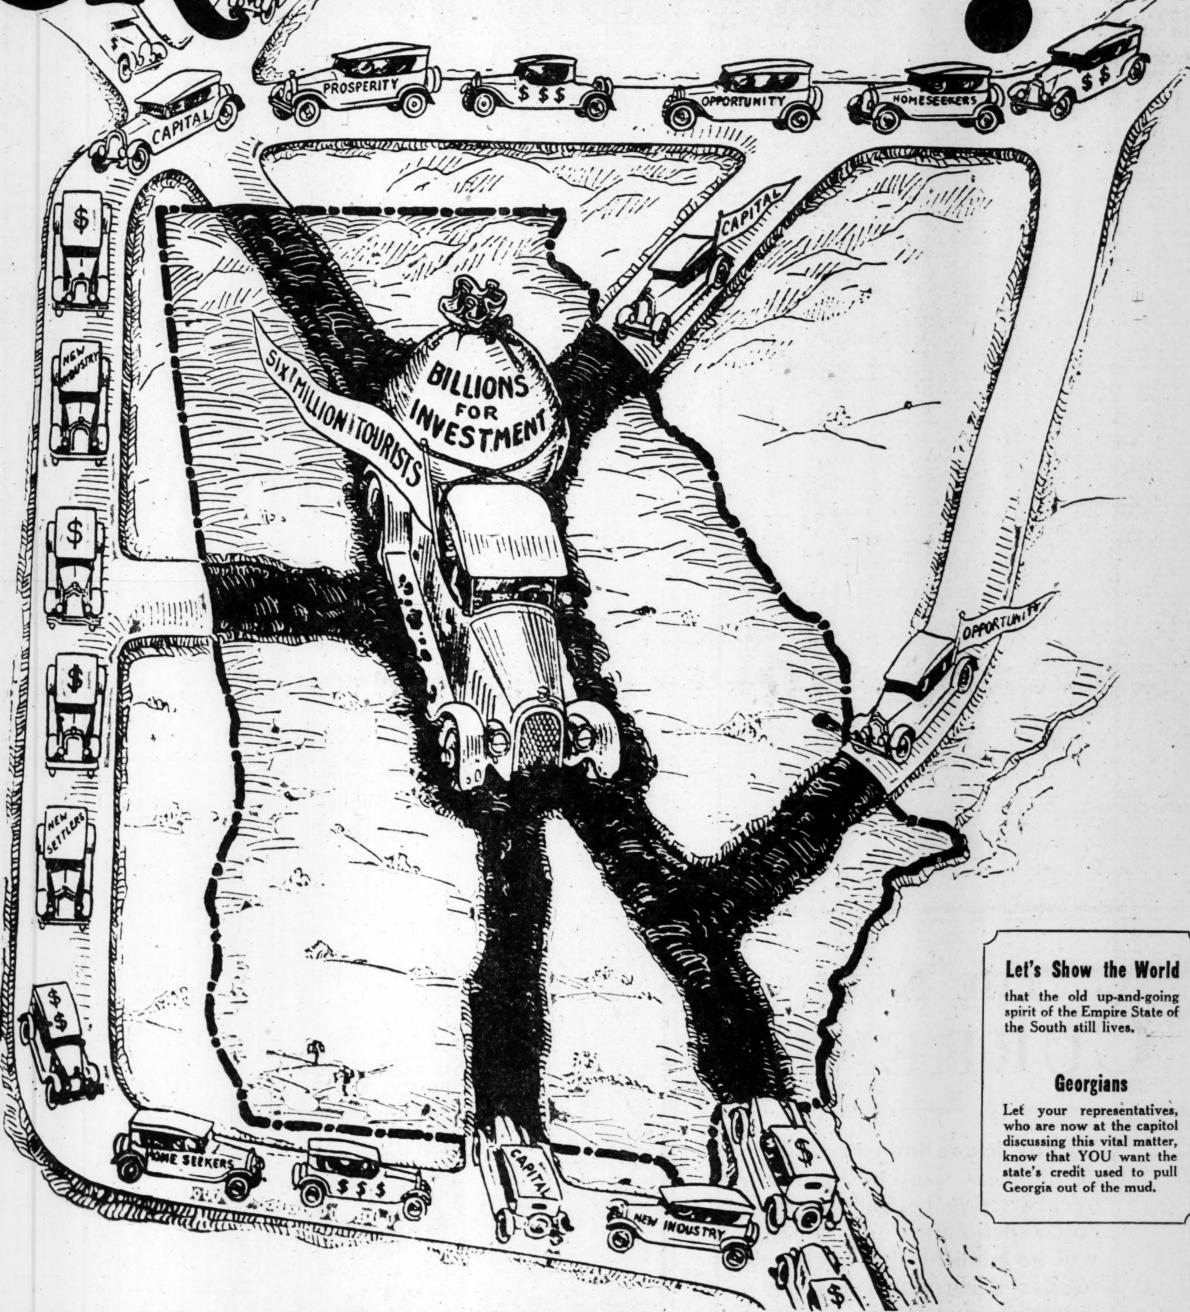

In 1929 either Georgia will offer all-weather roads or the motoring public will "Detour" the state, on roads now being built by our sister states.

6,000,000 Tourists spent an average of two days and a total of not less than $25,000,000.00 in Georgia in 1928. If we had had permanent roads they would have invested many times this sum.

Do we want the Traveling Expenses and Investments of these visitors, and our rightful share of the Development, new industries and settlers now pouring into the southeast?

If we do we must build roads and build them quickly.

If we use the state's credit to build roads, we can get them more quickly, and pay for them from the economies and development which roads will bring about.

Let us ask that the Legislature submit this question to the people for a decision, and then let us go to the polls next election day and have done with it, for we need roads for our own use even more than for the many other reasons.

BRYAN GRANT LOSES TO PARE

Atlantan Makes Bad Decision and Misses Chances at Title.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 9.-A poor decision in the critical moment lost the semi-final match in the National Clay Court championship here this afternoon for Bryan Grant, youthful Atlanta tennis star and southern champion.

Grant was leading his opponent. Emmett Pare, of Chicago, two sets to one and was tied at 11-all in the tourth set, when the match was rained out Monday. When play was resumed Tuesday afternoon, Grant agreed to play the fourth set all over

FATAL DECISION.

It was a fatal decision for "Bitsey," as he lost the set 6-4 after winning the first four games. Had they finished the original fourth set Grant would have won with the first two games, and thus advanced to the games, and thus advanced to the finals.

After playing great tennis for the first four games of the fourth set, Grant cracked a bit and missed shot after shot in rapid succession. He made numerous errors and lost his confidence, drapping two love games with eight straight faults on his own shots.

"Bitsey's" errors were mostly drives into the net, caused by loss of his ac-into the net, caused by loss of his ac-curacy that went with his reserve and coolness. He popped 14 shots out of the court and in the net that should have been easy placements for the southern wizard.

Pare changed his style of play after he realized that Grant was permanently up in the air, beginning a hard-driving and slashing game that swept the court with a cross-fire of fast slots and perfect placements. Grant was on the run.

In the deciding final set Grant tried to pull together and win, but the punch had gone, and although he won the second and two more after Pare had him 5-1, he failed to pull into the lead, losing the match three sets to two.

There were not enough sets in operation to affect the turnstiles. Reception was so poor that none who could attend in person would prefer to stay away and hear it at the fireside.

Perfection of receiving sets, reduction in price, and millions of dollars in newspaper advertising soon had the entire nation paying installments on static.

While very little improvement, if any, was made in the authenticity and diction of the broadcasters (the mechanical element improved much more rapidly than the human element in the business) it soon became much easier and more entertaining to sit at home, sipping gingerale and listen to a basebail game or a boxing match than to travel to the scene of the contest and sit through it.

PROMOTERS ARE RIGHT.

The promoters take the position that there is no reason why they should go to great expense to stage an entertainment for which admission is charged and then give it away to a broadcasting company. In this stand, promoters are entirely correct and within their rights.

The Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, for instance, does not broadcast its programs regularly, I am told. Neither do the RKO vaudeville houses, although they are in the broadcasting business themselves.

Grant Has Bright Future on Court MATCHES TODAY

Atlanta Ace Goes North To School to Receive Benefits of Competent Coaching.

By Ben Cothran.

Bryan Grant, who went to the semi-finals of the national clay court championships at Indianapolis this week, seems headed for the highest pinnacle of American tennis and his father, B. M. Grant, Sr., is anxious for him to have every advantage possible.

That's one reason why Bryan is going north to school, to the University of Pennsylvania. Although young Grant has an exceptional record, tennis in the south has been a muchly neglected collegiate sport. None of the southern schools employ coaches, very few of them have courts

At Pennsylvania, Grant will be under a good coach and is almost a cerder a good coach and is almost a certainty that he will make the Penn Dentists Stage team. This will give him an opportunity to play against leading collegiate players of the country, on grass courts and give him experience that is absolutely conleges of the country are furnishing the tennis stars of today, as Mr. Grant pointed out to me Tuesday. Several of the 10 ranking players of America are college men. Young Grant's father is making a wise move in sending him north.

Grant was defeated Monday by Emmett Pare, of Chicago, and western tennis champion. The match was begun Saturday and played whenever it quit raining long enough to permit players on the court. Bryan extended his opponent to the limit before going down, winning the first two sets handly and losing the last three in hard, grim battles.

STARTED YOUNG.

He has played tennis ever since he was able to hold a racquet in his hand and began playing in tournaments at the age of 11, when he entered the boys' tournament here and won it four years in a row until he became too old to compete and began winning in the junior division.

At present he holds the southern singles champiouship, having won it tournaments and the southern singles champiouship, having won it like Topsy, 'just growed'.

The Atlanta boy has gone a long way up the ladder of tennis fame but still has much to learn. He is young and at this early stage has mastered one of the most difficult obstacles fronting a competitor in any sportthe matter of keeping oneself under control. Bob Jones had to do it before he reached the golf heights. And nearly every champion has had to learn to control his temper.

Bryan when he was very young, used to go about the business of slamming racquets about the court and giving vent to his temper in other ways. But he has quit that and is developing a good competitive temperament, which will help him.

Cherished Ring Title May Soon Leave U.S.

Howl Is Now Going Up Over Country for Dempsey To Keep Crown in America.

By Ralph McGill.

Part of the prize ring tradition is that when John L. Sullivan was knocked out by Jim Corbett at New Orleans in 1892 he said, "Thank God, the title will remain in the hands of an American."

Since that time there has been a hue and a cry to keep the title in the hands, not only of the Americans, but of the nordics and the nearnordics. It was all right for the others to win any title they might choose so long as they left the heavyweight title alone.

And so the stretched "Lil' Arthur" at Havana. sherry—they never did anything "Lil' Arthur" is the only fighter who has ever violated the precedent.

There is a hue and a cry now for Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Man Mauler, to come along and rescue the title for the Americans. Max Schmeling, who is a nordic all right but who is not an American by any means, is about to take the title. The old Man Mauler is considering it. The $750,-000 is, of course, merely incidental as the $100,000 purse which Jim Jeffries received when he tried to save the title for the nordics.

AMERICAN TEACHERS. Max Schmeling is said to have learned the rudiments of the prize ring business in Germany from Amer-ican soldiers. It strikes me that the Americans, who have dominated the prize ring for so long, should have put some patent on it while they were about it. The elimination bout was held between a Spaniard and a Ger-

One may point a finger with alarm at the record of the Olympic boxers in the games of 1928.

Western Amateur Champ Fails To Qualify for Tourney This Year.

Kansas City, July 9.—(P)—Don Moe, Portland (Ore.) collegian, captured medalist honors in the qualifying round of the thirtieth annual wester amateur golf tournament here with a card of 144 strokes for 36 holes, This was one stroke better than the total of Keefe Carter, of Oklahoma City, who was champion in 1925.

For the first time since he began competing in the western amateur, "Chick" Evans, of Chicago, eight times titleholder, failed to qualify. His two-day total was 156, a good 75 today failing to atone for an 81 of Monday. Three of the four golfers who had 71 to lead the qualifiers in the first 1 and yesterday scored much higher than on their initial round but gained entry into the select 32 who will start match play tomorrow. They were Frank A. Aylward, Kansas City, with 71-80—151; Chester C. Jones, Kansas City, with 71-80—151, and Clarence Hubby, Dallas, Texas, with 71-78—149. Frank J. English, Kansas City, who was tied for the lead yesterday, went so high with his 85 today that he failed to qualify.

Two 18-hole rounds will be played tomorrow to pare the field to eight for the quarter-finals Thursday, All match play, beginning with the quarter finals, will be over 36 holes. HE record of sales for Ford Cars for the Month of June, 1929, is a figurative example of the public's choice of motor cars.

It is in itself convincing and overwhelming to know that nearly 1-2 of the automobilés, not including trucks, sold during last month were Fords. Aside from this noteworthy popularity, however, is the strength behind the gigantic Ford organization to assure satisfaction and service in each Ford car sold.

Migration of the dairy industry from the midwest into the southland will be well under way within the cur-rent decade, it was predicted Tuesday rent decade, it was predicted Tuesday by H. C. Bates, recently appointed field representative of the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Mr. Bates, who has established his headquarters in Atlanta, citing the progress that has already been made in this direction, declares that the reasons are obvious why "the center of the dairying industry of the United States will be transferred from Wisconsin to the southeast."

"Dairymen in the south are producing milk at 10 cents a gallon," Mr. Bates cited as one of the basic causes for the movement. "They sell this milk at prices between 20 cents and allows a prices between 20 cents and allows a like "A poether south that the prices between 20 cents and allows a like "A poether south that the prices between 20 cents and allows a like "A poether south that the prices between 20 cents and allows a like "A poether south that the prices between the product that the prices between the product that the prices are the product that the prices between the product that the pr milk at prices between 20 cents and $1 per gallon." Another point brought out by Mr. Bates showed that, while they could graze cattle only four months a year in Wisconsin, in the southeastern states the grazing season southeastern states the grazing season is nine months.

The south has another outstanding advantage compared with farmers of Wisconsin, Mr. Bates pointed out. "The principal food of the Wisconsin dairy cattle is cottonseed meal. The dairyman has to pay the farmer's profit on the meal. He has to pay the wholesaler's and the retailer's share of profit, and he has to pay the freight expenses on the cottonseed prodict which is shipped from this section."

Hinting at the advantages of diversified farming. Mr. Bates declared the dairying industry here would be "a taking up of our agricultural slack. For instance, a farmer with a herd of dairy cows can have enough manure each year for fertilization of his crops. He has a ready and profitable use for his hay and his oats without sending them to market. If he is furnishing his milk to the creameries, he can ing his milk to the creameries, he can use his skimmed milk for his chickens and his calves."

MOTORBOAT CLUB IS PLANNED HERE BY RACING PILOTS

Riding the crest of popularity created by the July 4 races at Lakewood park, those enthusiastic pilots who engaged in that contests are planning the organization of a motorboat club in Atlanta, primarily for the purpose of promoting other speed contests under the club pennant.

Several outboard pilots went to Lakemont for the week-end, including Mark Trammell, whose "Money Sunk" turned turtle at Lakewood during a race on the Fourth. There was racing at Lakemont and speed tests at Silver Lake Sunday, but the pilots are mapping out a summer schedule at Silver Lake Sunday, but the pilots are mapping out a summer schedule or racing for a grand conclusion of the season at Lakewood park on Labor Day. To that end the plans for a regular organization are going forward with Claude Smith active in the movement and others acting in concert. Several motors have been purchased since the holiday races, and Mr. Smith himself is designing a new boat.

Increased Rates Not Discussed.

Whether this means an increase in postal rates may be expected has not been made clear by the White House. It was said there, however, that increased rates were not discussed at the recent conference of President Hoover with Postmaster General Brown and recent conference of President Hoover with Postmaster General Brown and his assistants.

The department has been showing steadily increasing deficits over the last five years. Figures presented to the president show a deficit in 1924 of $14,000,000; in 1925, $23,000,000; 1928, $33,000,000; 1927, $27,000,000; 1928, $33,000,000; 1927, $27,000,000; 1928, $33,000,000; 1927, $27,000,000; 1928, $32,000,000, and in 1929, $95,000,000. In addition to the $95,000,000 deficit noted for the last fiscal year, the government has been ordered by the court of claims to make payments amounting to $42,000,000 to public carriers for back transportation of mail.

Postmaster General Brown today announced important changes in the postal service.

IN SPARKS CIRCUS

First steps looking toward opening of the J. Charlie Murphy and James W. Maddox junior high schools were taken by the board of education Tuesday afternoon when that body authorized the administrative department to establish seventh grades in each of the schools. Mrs. Paul West, commissioner from the eleventh ward, where the Murphy school is located, and Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth, where the Maddox school is situated, presented the resolutions.

Under a ruling of the board the grades will be provided if sufficient tunds are available.

Macon, Ga., July 9.—(AP)—Meager details of how the tigers and leopards the Sparks circus engaged in a terrible fight at some point in New England were contained in a telegram received here tonight.

Two leopards are known to have been killed by the tigers, but whether any other damage was done to the menagerie stock of the circus was not known.

Holland Going Back To Eat in Kentucky, Sleep in Tennessee

Captain "Bob" Holland, deputy sheriff, during his youth slept every night in Tennessee, but ate all of his meals in Kentucky, he revealed Tuesday in making known plans for a vacation trip to the scene of his boyhood.

Captain Holland was reared in a home on the Tennessee-Kentucky line. The kitchen and dining room, in a small building linked to the house, were located in Kentucky, while just across the line, in Tennessee, were the sleeping quarters, so that Captain Holland might well claim the distinction of being a native of two states. Captain Holland will leave in a few days to join Mrs. Holland in Nashville, from where they will go to his old home on the state line.

One of the most famous of tenor songs, "I Hear You Calling Me," will be Paul Oliver's solo during the coast-toast troudcast of the Palmolive hour over WSB and the N. B. All heirs to the Jennings estate who desire to petition the court of England for damages from the Beauchamp family of England have been called to meet at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, according to W. Al Jennings, night, according to W. Al Jennings, attorney.

The Jennings estate, consisting of real estate valued at more than $350, 000,000, has been the subject of suits by various heirs, but never before has the personal estate been subject to suit, Mr. Jennings said. The personal property is said to be valued at more than $50,000,000.

Mr. Jennings said that attorneys expect a settlement of one-third of the personal estate during the present year and are very anxious to file the petition this month. After the petition has been filed it will be too late for additional heirs to come forward, it was said. More than 200 residents of Georgia and the southeast have given authority to Mr. Jennings or him to include them as petitioners.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

had left the villa not one word had come out of that huddling, fur-collared little shape beside him. Geoffrey turned to her with a tentative, "I say, my dear. Joy! Don't you think it would be an idea——"

Joy did not turn or move.

is ual with these things, the electricity had given out.

Holding it, Travers, drew a short breath, lifted his head, and, in the resigned voice of a man who has ceased to blame any escapade which could amuse the light hearted, he addressed the unseen figure which must be lurking, agile and money-like in the branches.

Joy did not turn or move.

"Joy, I thought if I dived in and dug out Mums we could all go and have a champagne cocktail up in Pro-

No reply from Joy.

A glance showed her leaning slumped away from Geoffrey, face buried in her collar. Surely not fainted? No. Exhausted by a day and an evening of agitation behind her, Joy Travers, the moment the car started, had dropped off dead asleep.

"Poor kid," thought Geoffrey Ford. "This," he parodied the Beggar's opera, "is no time for a girl to be plagued with a man's mother." Doggedly he drove on past the Casino, Joy sleeping at his side; poor child, how she would have loathed it, being woke up at this repulsive hour to confront Mums, with whom Joy had never got on even in the days when she and Geoffrey had been respectably and blamelessly engaged.

"Nothing for this now but to go right through with it," decided Geoffrey him on past the new blocks of future flats, looking in the moonlight like the skyline of the film Metropolis. "Posters! Well known novelist elopes with bride of flying doctor!" Marvelous publicity. Paragraphs, pictures in the papers. Plenty of men jolly glad of it.

"What a short story this would make! . . All I was thinking on that balcony while I waited for her to come out; realizing this was the last thing I wanted, but having to jump at it. Pity the incidents in one's life that would write best are invariably incidents one can't use!

"I amorton defined received to find a strap watch tree. "I haven't the foggiest idea."

"Well, Uncle Rex, when a man can't sleep because it's such a boiling to this nearly two o'clock."

"Well, Uncle Rex, when a man can't sleep because it's such a boiling to the dancing until the cows come home."

He broke off, with sudden childish breathlessness he asked, "Why have they gone back? Why did they drive back again to the casino?"

Example of the film the moonlight like the skyline of the film they are the papers. Plenty of men jolly glad of it.

He made a hasty dash up to his room, and beat Joy even in the speed of his preparations; then out he dashed again, carrying his suitcase and wearing his fur lined leather driving coat, his cap. One glance showed him that Joy, still that little inert huddle of coat and helmet hat, had slumbered on unroused by the stopping of the car. Geoffrey did not know whether to be more relieved or irritated. How-

New Orleans waited nervously today for developments.

With startling suddenness, hopes of an early settlement of the week's strike of motormen and conductors were smashed around noon when the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., in responding to the request of the city commission council to accept the union's compromise proposal, announced an open shop policy and refusal to deal further with the union.

Close on the heels of the company's reply, Judge Wayne G. Borah in the United States district court, granted an injunction sought on behalf of the bondbolders of the public service restraining the strikers from interference with the operation of street cars and damage to the company's property.

Mayor Arthur J. O'Keefe sought to prevent another outbreak of ricting which already has cost the lives of two strikers, caused hundreds of injuries and close to a nundred thousand dollars property damage, called a hurried mass meeting of leading citizens. A committee was appointed by the meeting to strive to work out some plan to bring the strike to an end.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

Associated Press Market Editor. Chicago, July 9.-(A)-Sellers far late dealings today, and prices tumbled down fast. Word of beneficial rains in Argentina, together with some prospects of moisture tonight both north and south of the Canadian line, tended alike to stimulate selling and curtail demand toward the last, would-curtail demand toward the last, would-be purchasers meanwhile apparently holding off to await United States and Canadian government crop reports due tomorrow.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 2 1-4c to 2 7-8c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-8c to 2 1-8c net lower, oats 3-4c to 1 1-4c off, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 7c.

Although today's advices from the spring wheat belt northwest continued to tell of ill-starred crop conditions, the plants in widespread districts fired and dying, with farmers plowing the wheat under, many traders leaned to the bear side of the market, and effects of numerous standing orders to sall on advances in misuways was to be sell on advances in misuways was belonged. fects of numerous standing orders to sell on advances in price were much in sell on advances in price were much in evidence. Talk was current that considerable rainfalls had not been officially reported, and that these rains were of material advantage, which, however, would not be apparent until after four or five days of growing weather. It was also asserted that unofficial drouth damage reports had official drouth damage reports had been rather fully discounted by recent market upturns, and that the govern-ment crop estimates tomorrow instead ment crop estimates tomorrow instead of confirming great losses might prove to be something of a surprise.

However, notwithstanding that for at least the time being the drouth news appeared to be of less influence than has been the rule of late, good absorption of offerings kept the market two-sided and fluctuating rapidly, with rallies frequent until near the with rallies frequent until near the end of the day. Then indications grew plain that aggressive buying support had given out, and a general rush of selling set in. Big receipts of newlyharvested wheat southwest, with relative slowness of milling and export demand, were an evident factor in putting a damper for the moment at least on enthusiasm for higher prices. Corn and oats weakened with wheat. Generally favorable weather over the corn belt counted also in favor of sellers. There was talk, too, that re-oats crop outlook.

Commission buying of lard gave firmness to the provision market despite downturns in the value of hogs.

Sugar.

New York, July 9.—The raw sugar market was quiet yesterday. Refiners and operators who had bought large quantities on Monday withdrew bids when sugar futures prices turned easier. Offerings of raws were held firm at 3.89c duty paid early in the day, but later sugars were obtainable at 3.89c, but no business had been reported up to a late hour.

Baw futures displayed a reactionary trend vesterday under profit-taking following the recent sharp advances. Opening nrices were irregular at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points. The early buying in September and December was credited to further support by Canadian financial interests, while trade commission houses also supported the market. Selfing in the more distant deliveries was credited to profit-taking. Pressure increasing shortly after the opening, and the selfing was sufficient to carry prices down to not losses of about 6 to 8 points. Late in the day the market displayed a slightly steadler undertone when profit-taking become less pronounced and cloning quotations were attendy at not declines of 3 to 6 points. Total sales for the day were 119,1030 tons. Final prices were as follows. July 2,00; September 2,06; December 2,18-19; January 2,19; March 2,23; May 2,32; July 2,38.

In the refined market, with refiners advancing their list prices at the clone of business tonight to 5,25c, the trade was evidently waiting until the last minute to place orders and actining definite could be ascertained. It was predicted that the movement would materialize.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 to 7 points on the new crop months, on buying influenced by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool and continued reports of holl weevil infestation in the south. There was no business in July at the opening. The interest in that position has evidently narrowed down to very small proportions, but after selling at 18.25 early, the price worked up to 18.34, or 9 points above yesterony's closing quotation on covering.

The advance was accompanied by reports of rather a better demand for spot cotton for prompt shipment to domestic mills, but the price movement reflected the effect of very small orders. New crop positions meanwhile worked higher on the outlook for further scattering showers in the south and a feeling that weather consouth a feeling that weather consouth and a feeling that weather consouth a feeling that weather weevil in various parts of the belts. One private weekly review emphasized the danger of damage from these insects, while reports were received from both eastern and central belt sections regarding infestation, which was said to be keeping pace with the rapid fruiting of the plant in some Missis-sippi sections and to be increasing in sections of South Carolina.

Offerings increased somewhat as prices approached the 10-cent level for winter months and after selling up to 18.96 for December and 19.06 for Merch the weeket worker. for March, the market reacted slightly under realizing. Closing quotations were about 8 to 11 points off from easing off slightly on the good weather in the belt, prices soon improved again and continued on the upgrade all morning owing to a forecast for showery weather and on rather bullist crop forecasts by two private authorities. October finally traded up to 18.56 and December to 18.75, or 23 points above the previous close.

The market ruled steady and near the highs for some time, but in the last hour of trading prices eased off 10 to 11 points from the highs on realizing. July closed at 18.20, up only 2 points on the day.

Sheriff Returns Youth on I. C. C. Says It Is Doing Its Murder Charge in Death of Companion.

Providence, R. I., July 9 .- (A)-James K. Hoover, 22, of Huntington, W. Va., who was arrested here recent ly for Ocilla, Ga., authorities, left today in custody of Sheriff W. E. Tyler, to face a murder charge. Extradi-ler, to face a murder charge. Extradition papers were signed by Governor Case this morning.

Hoover was wanted in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Horry Loving, also of Huntington, at Fitzgerald, Ga., in 1926. A body found in the ruins of a burned house was believed to have been that of Loving, although it was identified at the time as that of Harry K. Sligh. Sligh later appeared and also is under arrest in Ocilla in connection with the murder.

SECOND BROTHER TO BE ARRESTED.

Deilla. Ga., July 9.—(Special.)—
Sheriff W. E. Tyler. of Irwin county who went last week to Providence, R. I., to serve extradition papers for the return of James Hoover, brother of Aubrey Carlisle Hoover, today started his return journey with his prisoner charged with a knowledge of and 2 part in the murder of Harry Leving, Huntington, W. Va., youth, according to a message received here this afternoon.

this afternoon.

Carlisle Hoover was returned here a few days ago and placed in prison a: Sylvester, Ga., while Harry K. Sligh remains in the Irwin county jail.

Superior court of Irwin county convenes on the twelfth of August, at which time the grand jury will make investigations of the charges against the trio. who, it is alleged, conspired to murder Loving in September, 1926. It is claimed that the Hoover brottlers in company with Loving were the guests of Sligh one night while on a "hitch-hiking" trip into Florida, and while there the home of Sligh near Ocilla was destroyed by fire.

From the ashes of the residence a bedy, charred and burned beyond recognition, was taken which was buried to the country descended over much of the country descended over much of the country

TO SAVE BOY'S LIFE

New York, July 9.—(AP)—A 15-year-old boy died at Seaside hospital late today of a rare blood disease that nearly 1,000 men and women sympa-thizers tried to help him overcome.

The blue-eyed, freckled boy, George Mosher, was reported several weeks ago to be critically ill of kala-azar, or black fever, with no money for the necessary blood transfusions.

The response from a city where few men know their neighbors was instantaneous. Policemen and law-are offered their blood bankers and yers offered their blood, bankers and small merchants their money. A to-tal of ten transfusions were given and he appeared to have improved until his condition grew critical early to-day. His physician said his condithen was too serious for another
